Anger Management Part 2

‘My inmost being will rejoice when your lips speak right things.’

Proverbs 23:16

When it comes to practising anger management, here are two important Bible principles: 1) Don't blame people and things. Blaming is a way of evading responsibility while pointing your finger elsewhere. ‘If only you'd arrive on time, I wouldn't have to nag you,’ or ‘If you'd stop nagging me, maybe I'd start being on time.’ Words like that don't help, they just antagonise the other person, perpetuate your anger, and fail to get the results you want. 2) Don't use words as weapons or a form of control.

Instead keep your emotions in check and express them in a healthy way. Remember, your goal is to solve the problem and strengthen the relationship, not leave wounds that fester. Is this easy to do? No – that's why you need God's help. The Bible says that your words can crush the other person's spirit (see Proverbs 18:14), break their heart (see Proverbs 15:4), and destroy the relationship (see Proverbs 18:21). Solomon said that angry words ‘go down to a man's inmost parts’ (Proverbs 26:22 NIV 1984 Edition). What you say can live in the memory of another person their whole life – all the way to the grave. Is that what you want? Surely not! On the other hand, anger properly managed never needs to be regretted or repented of. Learn to discern the difference between the anger you feel and the words you speak. Anger can reveal what needs to be changed in the relationship. So ask God to show you what needs changing – first in yourself, then in the other person.

Anger Management Part 3

‘Out of the overflow of his heart his mouth speaks.’

Luke 6:45

What you store on your computer’s hard drive can be recalled by touching a key. Jesus said: ‘The good man brings good things out of the good stored up in his heart...the evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in his heart. For out of the overflow of his heart his mouth speaks.’ And when you download old resentments you grow bitter. When you’re angry, deal with it quickly. Don’t walk around on a ‘slow boil’. And don’t sit around hoping the other person will see the light and apologise to you.

What if they never do? Jesus said, ‘If your brother sins against you, go to him and try to make things right’ (see Matthew 18:15). What do you value most – your point of view, or the relationship? When you ‘stuff’ your anger and refuse to deal with the issue in a healthy way, you add another skeleton to your emotional closet. Imagine what that does to you. Some doctors say resentment eats at your stomach lining, attacks your immune system, and pre-disposes you to heart problems, cancers, and other physical, social, and emotional disorders. And that’s not all! It preoccupies your mind, drains your energy, and cripples your creativity. It strains your fellowship with God, your family, and friends, as well as denying your offender an opportunity to clear their conscience and make things right with God and with you. Until you deal with the issue, you’ll drag it around like a ball and chain. Refuse to live that way! Ask God for the humility and courage to deal with the issue – today.

St Jude's Church-Songs of Praise

St Jude's Church first ever Songs of Praise service went spectacularly. We were 18 in attendance and could've been more. Daniel led the service with Matthew's help on his guitar. Thank you to Doreen, as well for playing the organ. We would also like to thank St Andrew's as they provided us with technical equipment so we could show a video clip and the presentation of Wallasey.

Guest Singer

Thank you to our soloist, Colin Hunt, from St Andrew's. He sang 'Anthem' from Chess. We really appreciate the help from St Andrew's and all the churches around the Diocese. We all had positive comments about the service and it was well received.

Facebook and the Website

Thank you for all the support on Facebook and the website we really appreciate all the help. If you haven't 'liked' our Facebook page yet, please do so as it helps raise our profile.

Know YOUR Church & Your Bishop

This font hasn't been used at St Jude's for about 15 years. We now have a new portable font. The font is at the back of church is a main feature of the church architecture. It was used for over 115 years since the church was consecrated in about 1885.

The Gern Organ is very unique and well known by organ enthusiasts. Thank you Doreen for playing the organ over the years. The organ was refurbished about 8 years ago. Bishop Paul took over St Jude's as Minister-in-Charge in 2001 and has continued to help St Jude's grow and, along with Bishop Kenneth Powell was instrumental in preventing the church closing. There has also been good ministerial help from St Andrew's Church over the past few years. We are thankful for the ministry of the Revds Mark, Paul, Colin and latterly, Daniel.

Thank you too, to Bishop Paul. Please don't forget to come to our open day on August 19th. The day is going to be used for quiet prayers, reflection and to encourage more people to see St Jude's. We do hope and pray that you can make it to this special day. Light refreshments will be provided at the back of the church and people will be there to make you feel welcome. Please come and see the brilliant things St Jude's has done over the years and pray for its future ministry in the Chuckery. See you there!!

Everyone is Welcome

The Verse for the Month

Because of his great love for us, God, who is rich in mercy, made us alive with Christ even when we were dead in transgressions.... For it is by grace you have been saved, Faith— and this is not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast.
